👤 PROFILE

I am a highly driven and experienced investigator, specializing in Banking fraud and employee misconduct. With 2+ years' experience specializing in claims cost containment with a strong emphasis on building relationships across all general banking. On a day-to-day basis, as 2nd line of defense, I play a leading role in promoting fraud awareness, supporting the 1st line functions to provide assurance they are managing fraud within risk appetite and legal frameworks. Working at Wells Fargo has given me the opportunity to gain a wide knowledge of the banking industry from a large banking services company.

I am an enthusiastic and self-motivated individual, eager for new challenges all the time. I have a real desire to grasp new ideas & concepts and to develop innovative and creative solutions to problems. I work well on my own initiative with good problem solving and excellent communication skills. I am an energetic, hands-on individual, always keen to learn and teach others. I enjoy being part of a team and readily build strong relationships with personnel at work. I am a proactive individual who adopts a logical approach to challenges, performing effectively within highly pressurized working environments. I am a hardworking individual who can follow instructions both effectively and efficiently. I have demonstrated these qualities throughout my previous work experiences and employment.
